

Welcome Georgia!

Following on from a brain tumour removal in 2015 at only 23, Georgia wishes to put her skills and qualifications in marketing, PR, media, events, journalism and design to good use once again.

With a degree in PR as a base and subsequent career development in wedding and event planning, project management and grant writing, we welcome Georgia to DVJS as our new contributor to Social media and Graphic Design.

Georgia looks forward to being part of the workforce again and is grateful to DVJS for recognising her skills and that whilst she still faces a number of challenges, they're physical not mental. Not being perceived as stupid is probably the biggest barrier DVJS have knocked down, and kind staff don't hurt!

Moving forward Georgia knows there are still challenges ahead but in the future would like to style and coordinate weddings and events as a sole trader. Georgia feels inspired by the many people who overcome very difficult challenges, yet still succeed. Georgia also loves the quote by Marilyn Monroe, "If you can't handle me at my worst, you sure as hell don't deserve me at my best!"
